*Negative value represents flow into space